Wing is an aviation company that provides drone delivery as a faster, safer, and cleaner way to transport everyday goods. The company has built a small, lightweight, electric aircraft that can deliver food, medicine, and household items directly to homes in minutes.

The coolest part: your neighborhood will be one of the first in the U.S. with access! We'll start conducting test flights soon, before launching the first drone delivery service in a major U.S. metro later this year.
